

Parkman House Master Preservation Plan
Boston, MA

The City of Boston selected Platt Anderson Freeman to perform this Master Preservation Plan partially because we have a great reputation in Historic Preservation but also because we have worked well with the City on a number of previous projects. We also identified a pressing structural issue in our preliminary walk-through. We are focussing our initial efforts on assessing and resolving a number of structural issues, and then hope to be able to focus on many smaller but still important issues identified in subsequent inspections. These issues range from leaking plumbing fixtures to inadequate insulation, damaged plaster, missing slate roofing tiles, cracked stone lintels, interior finishes requiring conservation and art preservation.
